

Buddhadasa's Movement: An Analysis of Its Origins, Development, and Social Impact

Dissertation zur Erlangung des Grades eines
Doktors der Sozialwissenschaften

vorgelegt im WS 1991/1992
an der
Fakultät für Soziologie
Universität Bielefeld

Verfasserin: Suchira Payulpitack
Jakob-Kaiserstr. 16a/315
4800 Bielefeld 1

Gutachter: Prof. Dr. Hans-Dieter Evers

Bielefeld, im Oktober 1991

Contents

List of Tables, Figures, and Maps	i
Notes and Translation	ii
Acknowledgements	iii
	Pages
Chapter 1 Introduction
Studying Buddhadasa's Movement .....	3
Studies in the Sociology of Religious Movements .....	7
Data Collection, Organization, and Aims of the Study .....	17
Chapter 2 Social Change and Religious Movements in Thailand
Mongkut and His Religious Reforms in the Nineteenth Century .....	21
Socio-Political Change and Religious Development --
1886-1932 .....	26
Constitutional Era (1932-).....	41
Religious Movements in Contemporary Thailand.....	56
Chapter 3 Life History of Buddhadasa Bhikkhu
Family, Childhood, and Education .....	72
Early Life as Buddhist Monk .....	82
Life at Suan Mokkh.....	92
Chapter 4 Buddhadasa and His Interpretation of Buddhism
Buddhadasa's Reinterpretation of Buddhism .....	104
Buddhadasa and Criticism of Theravada in Thailand .....	120
Buddhism from a New Perspective .....	125
Chapter 5 Origins and Growth of Buddhadasa's Movement
Origins and Objectives.....	140
Development of the Movement .....	143
Expansion of the Movement.....	154
Suan Mokkh as a Centre of Ideology.....	167
Chapter 6 The Movement and Its Followers
Characteristics of the Buddhadasa Movement.....	178
Social Background of Buddhadasa's Followers .....	183
Why the People Join the Movement.....	191

Chapter 7 Social Impact of the Buddhadasa Movement: A Case Study

Introduction .....202
General Background of the Village Community .....206
Religious Beliefs and Village Life .....210
Life Experiences of Phra Pongsak Techadhammo .....214
Deforestation at Mae Soy Sub-District .....220
Beginning the Conservation Project at Mae Soy .....221
Recognition.....246

Chapter 8..... Conclusion

Bibliography . . . . . 265

Pages*List of Tables

Table No. 1: Suan Mokkh Visitors for 1983 .....	175
Table No. 2: Exchange of recorded tapes at Suan Mokkh .....	176
Table No. 3: Distribution of Buddhadasa's Sampled Followers by Region .....	183
Table No. 4: Place of Origin: Rural versus Urban .....	184
Table No. 5: Sex Distribution of Buddhadasa's Followers .....	185
Table No. 6: Marital Status of Buddhadasa's Followers .....	186
Table No. 7: Age Distribution .....	187
Table No. 8: Age on Joining the Movement .....	188
Table No. 9: Educational Attainment .....	189
Table No. 10: Occupation .....	189
Table No. 11: Income Distribution (in Baht) .....	190
Table No. 12: Reasons which most influenced commitment to the Movement .....	191
Table No. 13: First Means of Acquaintance with Buddhadasa's Teachings .....	192
Table No. 14: Previous Religious Interest .....	193
Table No. 15: Year of Joining the Movement .....	193

List of Figures

Figure 1: An example of a chart of working groups/organizations within .....
--	--

Bt

List of Maps

1: Map of Thailand .....	iv
2: Map of Phumrieng Sub-District .....	78
3: Map of the North Region of Thailand .....	204
4: Map of Mae Soy Sub-District .....	205

Notes and Translation

Words associated with Buddhism in this study are used in Pali form, the terms of which are used to refer to the Theravada tradition. The equivalent Sanskrit terms, which are used in Mahayana Buddhism will also be listed.

Pali	Sanskrit
dhamma	dharma
kamma	karma
sutta	sutra
tipitaka	tripitaka

Periodization

Sukhothai	13 th — 15 th centuries
Ayudhaya	1350 — 1767
Thonburi	1767 — 1782
Bangkok	1782 —

Bangkok Period

The First Reign	Rama I	Yotfa	1782 - 1809
The Second Reign	Rama II	Loetla	1809 - 1824
The Third Reign	Rama III	Nangklaao	1824 - 1851
The Fourth Reign	Rama IV	Mongkut	1851 - 1868
The Fifth Reign	Rama V	Chulalongkorn	1868 - 1910
The Sixth Reign	Rama VI	Vajiravudh	1910 - 1925
The Seventh Reign	Rama VII	Prachathipok	1925 - 1935
The Eighth Reign	Rama VIII	Ananda	1935 - 1946
The Ninth Reign	Rama IX	Phumiphon	1946 -

Acknowledgements

The debts of gratitude which I owe to many people in the completion of this thesis can never be fully repaid by words alone. Special thanks are first due to my supervisor Prof. Dr. Hans-Dieter Evers, who encouraged the study and offered many insights into my work. I am also deeply indebted to the kindness of Dr. Sharon Siddique, the Deputy Director of the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore. Her useful advice and criticisms from the beginning of my writing, moral support, and tireless rereadings of drafts of this thesis, saved me many months of struggling in the fog. Dr. Rüdiger Korff, who served as my second supervisor, posed many questions that guided my field research in Thailand.

I gratefully acknowledge many scholars whose help have given depth to the scope of this work; particularly Prof. Dr. Pataya Saihu, Prof. Dr. Donald K. Swearer, Dr. Diana Wong, and Dr. Louis Gabaude. Their advice has provoked and broadened my thoughts and ideas. When I struggled to see things in black and white they have always found and shared their own colourful perspectives. I am also grateful to Prof. Dr. Mongkol Detnakharin and Dr. Ronald D. Renard for their help in improving my writing skills.

For my field research I am deeply indebted to Buddhadasa Bhikkhu who gave me his time and knowledge. I also owe a great deal to the monks and nuns of Suan Mokkh who advised me on the profound aspects of Buddhism and taught me the dhamma in both words and deeds. A very special word of thanks is also due to Ajarn Pongsak Techadhammo and the villagers of Wang Nam Yad who kindly answered my endless queries.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge Payap University for allowing me a five-year leave, and the Ecumenical Scholarship Program (Ökumenisches Studienwerk e.V.) for the financial assistance which made it possible for me to study in Germany.

All these people have been my teachers and benefactors; however the faults in what follows are my own.